At Stinger, a family owned business, we have been developing radar detectors since 1989. We love driving, we love freedom, and because we love to drive in freedom our company is dedicated to building the best radar detectors we can imagine. That's why we will not mass produce, we refuse to use mediocre components, and we never cut corners on the design. What our engineers will do, is try to stretch the limit of what's possible with today's most advanced technology. We realize that as a result a Stinger comes at a price and may not find its way into just any car. We would like to think, however, that a Stinger has become a must-have addition to any luxury automobile: join performance car drivers from all over the world and choose Stinger for your driving freedom. stinger.com
